'Connect 2: Churches Going Global' is the second book in the Connect! series to be published by Tim Jeffery. It contains real life stories of churches that have taken the plunge into direct involvement in global mission and found themselves being filled with new life and enthusiasm for all forms of mission in the process. This book will inspire and encourage you to think again about the role of your church as we enter a new era in global mission and offer a wealth of new ideas for how you might do it.

Here is an excerpt from the introduction...

"Change is in the air! Just about everywhere you look, things are changing. It sometimes feels like we are on a runaway train with changes coming thicker and faster all the time. In the Christian community we are grappling anew with what church is all about and how it's going to look in the future. Our understanding of the message of the gospel and how we communicate it into a predominantly post-modern context is a growing discussion that is likely to develop much further. In these shifting sands, it was always unlikely that our understanding and practice of global mission would remain unaffected. In fact, in the early twenty-first century, we are in the middle of a paradigm shift in global mission. The whole way we conceive of and do global mission is not just getting a facelift but is undergoing fundamental change. The Connect! initiative is seeking to explore and attempt to articulate some of these changes and to help the church take hold of the opportunities of an exciting new era."
