Have you ever wished that there were lawyers out there that are both committed to enabling Christian organisations to pursue their mission and who understand the world you operate in?

Anthony Collins Solicitors are committed to supporting Global Connections and their members. We have a particular focus on supporting clients in the faith sector which, combined with our charity, community regeneration, social enterprise and commercial experience makes us unique. We are an award winning, people based business, with a strong "can-do" approach that means we work closely with our clients to help them do what they want to do. We aim to equip our clients to do things for themselves rather than to run up big legal bills. We have worked with Christian organisations for years and have built up a body of knowledge and understanding that is shared by few others. So if you need legal advice, consultancy help or particular training by people who understand your world get in contact with us to see how we can help.
